EV Buddy Inc., developer of EVChargeShare™, a portable vehicle-to-vehicle (V2V) fast DC charging solution, has been awarded the Audience Choice Award at the ITServe Alliance “Pitch to Rich” 2025 event held in Phoenix, Arizona.

The award recognizes EV Buddy’s breakthrough technology and strong audience resonance among leading investors, entrepreneurs, and technology professionals.

“We’re building a charge-delivery network that turns help into minutes, not hours—cleaner, faster, and more affordable than a tow.”

Suresh Arya, Founder & CEO, EV Buddy

who managed one of the first electric vehicle fleets for a division of Mercedes-Benz, I wish I had this device back then—it would have saved a lot of money from towing and, more importantly, kept our customers happy. EV Buddy’s technology brings that confidence directly to every driver, fleet, and rideshare partner.”

The Audience Choice Award—based on live voting by attendees—reflects the market enthusiasm for EV Buddy’s mission to eliminate range anxiety through its innovative onscene V2V fast charging network, enabling one EV to charge another without the need for towing or heavy infrastructure.

“It’s an honor to see the audience connect so strongly with what we’re building,” said Mike Cully, Chief Development Officer of EV Buddy, who presented at the event. “As someone “Winning the Audience Choice Award validates that our message resonates beyond engineers—it connects with everyday drivers and investors who understand real-world impact,” said Suresh Arya, Founder & CEO of EV Buddy. “This recognition from ITServe’s vibrant entrepreneurial community reinforces our mission: to make fast, reliable EV charging available anytime, anywhere, without waiting or towing.” EV Buddy is currently launching its Gig Driver; Host Site Program, enabling EV owners, rideshare drivers (Uber, Lyft, DoorDash), and property hosts (Turo, Airbnb) to earn income by providing or delivering on-scene V2V charging.

The company is also preparing to launch a crowdfunding campaign to support multi-region pilots and accelerate manufacturing of its EVChargeShare™ units.
